

Walker Brothers Salmonella Outbreak Deters Nobody

By George Minkowski

HIGHLAND PARK -- Over a dozen Deerfield students stayed home from school Monday after receiving salmonella from Walker Brothers due to unrefrigerated eggs. However, becoming violently ill is not enough to keep most people away from the delicious pancake house.

Those infected with the food-borne bacteria report that besides nausea, fever, abdominal pain, and diarrhea, their meal at Walker Brothers was quite enjoyable. Many of these individuals plan on returning as soon as they can eat solid foods again.

Rebecca Samuels was among these unexpected diners. "I ordered the Apple Pancake with a side of toast and an egg. It was soooo good but I got soooo sick."

"Worth it," adds Rebecca.

At any other restaurant, one would expect that traffic would go down following an outbreak of a bacteria that infects 142,000 Americans annually, but Walker Brothers proves to be an exception.

Following the outbreak, restaurant attendance has been up nearly 46%. This can be explained by a phenomenon that anyone who has ever eaten at Walker Brothers understands. That is, when people talk about Walker Brothers, you want Walker Brothers.

Rebecca Samuels e-mailed her teachers to let them know why she wouldn't be in school on Monday. Her English and Math teachers responded by telling her that they were very jealous because Walker Brothers is, "totally the bomb."

This incident marks the fourth outbreak in two years, but the restaurant defends their poor sanitation and food preparation habits by reminding visitors time and time again that sometimes you have to sacrifice safety for taste. Besides, who is it to say that salmonella is not what makes Walker Brothers food so gosh darn delicious in the first place?

Kwanzaa Celebrators Disappointed About Lack of Kwanzaa Spirit This, Every Year

By Gunter Hausman

Unfortunately, as Christmas and Festivus fast approach, Kwanzaa is seldom on our radars. This is starting to bother Kwanzaa celebrators who were hoping that this would be the year that people finally got pumped up for Kwanzaa. Judging by the lack of kinaras and Nguzo Saba, this year will be no different.

"Seriously guys? Again?" asks Kwanzaa celebrator Steven Karenga. "I know we haven't allowed ourselves to become as commercialized as Christmas or Hannukah, but I was expecting to see at least one Kwanzaa Karl at the mall this year."

So were the other 4.7 million Americans who celebrate Kwanzaa. Many of whom thought that a great deal of other Americans would be able to get excited about the relatively new but definitely important seven day celebration.

Kwanzaa has started every year on December 26 since 1966, however it doesn't really seem that many people have caught on which is strange because Kwanzaa always starts the day after Christmas, a day not very difficult to remember.

"This is what we are saying," Ron Everett reports. "It's so easy and so much fun to celebrate Kwanzaa. Everyone should do it. When we scheduled Kwanzaa, we made sure that it wouldn't interfere with anything, so really there is no reason for not observing Kwanzaa."

Each of the seven days of Kwanzaa is dedicated to one principle like Unity or Collective Work and Responsibility. Additionally, there is a culminating in a feast and gift giving. Fun!

Joyous Kwanzaa

School Realizes Kid Has A Twin, Explains A Lot

By Alex Von Trapensfield

Students and teachers at DHS have discovered that sophomore Robby Cassini has an identical twin, Danny, and things are starting to make a lot more sense now.

Since freshman year, Robby's peers were confused by his constant changes in behavior and personality, as well as his tendency to forget entire conversations and events.

"Wait, Robby has a twin?" exclaimed fellow sophomore Jake Lowe, who ate lunch with Robby last week and with Danny this week, "Wow... that explains a lot. Last week, he wouldn't stop talking about how Green Day is the best band in existence. Then yesterday, he was muttering about how he'd rather shove ballpoint pens in his ears than listen to Green Day. I just figured he couldn't make up his mind."

Even Robby's parents were not aware of his brother's existence until around three years after his birth.

"Robby certainly did seem to eat a lot, and he went through twice as many diapers as regular babies did," mother Ella Cassini remembered. "Once I finally discovered my precious Danny, the difficult pregnancy was a lot easier to explain".

The Cassini parents were the first to be inadvertently tricked by the twins, but they were certainly not the last. Head basketball coach Tim Walters was thoroughly impressed with Robby's stellar performances on the varsity team; "I thought Robby was a phenomenal player. He'd be pulling down rebounds one second, then before you knew it he'd be across the court making a lay-up. It almost seemed like he was in two places at the same time." In fact, the Deerfield basketball had accidentally been playing with six players on the court, but the referees were none the wiser.

Robby Cassini is understandably exasperated with the confusion between him and his brother. "Nobody around here understands the concept of identical twins," Robby told The Flipside. Or um, wait, that may have been Danny. Actually, that was definitely Robby. I think.

More Top Stories

Tiger Woods In No Mood to be Satirized by Blatant Rip-Off of The Onion

Area Man Feels Much Better After Having a Nice Cry in the Bathtub

Why Does Everybody Think I Want Knives For Hannukah?

Your Glamor Shot Here!

Be the highest bidder and have your glamor shot published in the next Flipside. Write your name and bid down then put this sheet in locker I192! Bids start at $10.

Saving tiny Hearts Society

THE FLIPSIDE CRYPTOGRAM CHALLENGE: solve the Cryptogram, write down your name, and put your copy of The Flipside in locker I192. The first one to solve it correctly will win a sweet Flipside t-shirt!!

QUOTE "White House crashing rule #73. Party like a champion."

- Mr. and Mrs. Salahi

REBUS PUZZLES

Can you guess the common word or phrase portrayed below?

Last issue's answers: TENNIS SHOE, WHO IS IN CHARGE, PAINLESS OPERATION, EXCUSE ME

INFOGRAPHIC

Who da man?

- 14% Whoever left their change in the vending machine
- 16% This question is so sexist.
- 22% Johannes Gutenberg, inventor of the printing press
- 18% It doesn't matter, we're all going to die anyway.
- 11% You da man!!!
- 19% No, you da man!!!

CRYPTOGRAM CHALLENGE

This is a simple substitution code. Each letter is replaced by a different letter. Try to decode the message or quote below.

Congratulations to last week's winner: Chloe Despos HINT D=N

"PDSU WNWGD, ZU SPTU HP HYU YPIGJWK EUWEPD, W JUUQIK
 VUIGNGPME HGTU HYWH UWSY PC ME PXEUVAUE, GD YGE PZD ZWK, XK
 NPGDN HP HYU TWII PC YGE SYPGSU." -- JWAU XWVVK

Last issue's answer: "All the president is, is a glorified public relations man who spends his time flattering, kissing, and kicking people to get them to do what they are supposed to do anyway." — Harry S. Truman

SUDOKU

Level: Моя кораб на въздушна възглавница е пълен с змиорки!

Fill in the grid so each column, row, and 3x3 box has the numbers 1 through 9.

	8		9	7		2
			8	4
7		3				4		9
		7	1	9	8
4								5
		5	2	3	6
1		6				2		7
			7	1
	7		3	2				5

Note: All names and stories are fictional, unless public figures are being satirized. Remember, these are all jokes.

The Flipside is always looking for new writers, puzzle makers, and distributors. E-mail us if you're interested.

JUMBLE

Unscramble these four ordinary jumbles, and use the letters in circles to answer the final question.

DEPIB
 ○ □ □ □ □ ○

KANLF
 □ □ □ ○ □

RACKEY
 □ □ ○ ○ ○ □ □

THENCS
 □ □ ○ □ □

○ ○ ○ ○ ○

○ ○ ○ ○ ○

Last issue's answers: WHEAT, WOMAN, ELVISH, SHAVED. The nerdy astrologer's question: WHAT'S YOUR SIGN?

www.dhsflipside.com

11perlsonj@dist113.local.org