

More Headlines

BJ Raji Gets Excessive Celebration Call for Eating Caleb Hanie

Turd Doesn't Fit in StageWrite Submission Box, Bully Reports

Moment of Silence Gives Students Daily Opportunity to be Terrified of Farting

HOROSCOPES

Thanks to the geniuses at the Minnesota Planetarium Society, everything you thought you knew about horoscopic astrology is wrong. In other words, starting this year, your horoscope has probably changed. This was done to accommodate the new sign: Ophiuchus, the serpent-bearer. (How lame is that?)

Because of the controversy surrounding this many people have chosen to reject their new horoscope. Since we at The Flipside already believe horoscopes are total bogus, here are a few horoscopes and you can

Ethics Ignored in School's Plan to End Illegal Parking

By Gunther Hausman

There is no denying that there is an epidemic at Deerfield High School. It's not just senioritis and swine flu is under control (for now). There is an epidemic of Juniors parking in the DHS lot without a permit.

Most students don't take this issue very seriously. They foolishly believe that they are entitled to take one of the many open spots if they are in a pinch. By parking without a permit, these delinquents are bringing on almost certain Armageddon.

School officials resolved this New Year to end this disturbing trend and are actually following through.

However necessary their efforts are, these new policies and procedures are causing a significant amount of irreversible damage.

"You've been warned," said an administrator who wishes to be kept anonymous to appear more evil. "Now its time to pay."

Payment for a parking violation is no longer something simple like a 6-hour Saturday detention and/or 6-hour loss of breathing privileges. The deans and security personnel have really upped the ante.

Their goal is to have no repeat offenders and that means one of three things; rendering the vehicle immobile, emotionally crippling the culprit, or doing both of those.

In the past week, the school has slashed fourteen tires, stolen nine, and replaced four with bicycle wheels. These stolen tires are being auctioned off by the Booster Club (along with everything else they can get their hands on) to pay for the turf field.

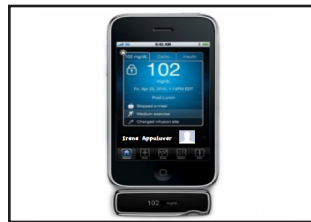

Some cars have been imploded and others have been chained to the imploded cars.

"I was a little frustrated to see Junior keyed into my car and the seats replaced with fire," says Junior Samantha Bishop. "But there's not use crying over spilled milk."

"No, we want you to cry," said the administrator.

New App Allows You to Monitor Friends' Blood Sugar

By Jacque Jomby

In desperate attempt to live up to their commercial-quality-slogan, "There's an app for that," Apple announced it will release a new application that allows you to monitor your friends' blood sugar levels.

"What is the point of creating thousands of apps when all people really want to know is how much glucose is present in their friends' blood?" said Apple's Head of Software Development, Scott Forstall, at their last developer conference.

However, 10% of those who tested the app reported "mild reluctance" about undergoing the outpatient procedure needed establish a central line between them and their iPhone for the app to function. As a result, developers added two more features to make the app more appealing: a heart rate monitor and button that makes fart noises.

Although the "flatulence feature" is just for fun, the other two have potential to compete with Twitter and 'Places' on Facebook as social utilities. With the biological data iBloodSugar provides, users can infer what their friends are doing and where they are. For instance, if someone's heart rate increases from 81 to 94 BPM and their blood sugar level decreases from 72.9 to 72.4 mg/dL, they are obviously at The Cheesecake Factory and eating a slice of New York Style Cheese-cake in a vigorous fashion.

This version of the app is getting the attention of more than just Apple fanatics. Doctors and nurses alike are praising the app for its inviting user interface and shocking accuracy. Many of these medical professionals are choosing to ignore the disclaimer in every iPhone contract:

"iPhones are not purposed to be anything more than expensive toys... maybe a phone too. Apps are only meant to keep you from getting bored and generate more revenue. Thank you for your undying loyalty to Apple Incorporated."

iBloodSugar, or iBS for short, will be hitting the metaphorical shelves of the App Store next Wednesday. The 14-minute demo version will be available for free.

pick which one you like best.

OPTION 1 (FORMERLY LEO): Don't count your chickens before they hatch because they might actually be dinosaurs.

OPTION 2 (FORMERLY GEMINI): You will try something new this week and fail... as is often the case. So perhaps this week you should try to lose the lottery.

OPTION 3 (FORMERLY PISCES): You will be offered a job at Yummy Bowl. Take it if you want to live.

Horoscopes by Guru Minkowski

THE FLIPSIDE CRYPTOGRAM CHALLENGE: Solve the Cryptogram, write down your name, and then find and give your copy of The Flipside to Jake Perlson. There will be a drawing to see who will win a sweet Flipside t-shirt!!

QUOTE "How am I going to ask my date to Turnabout?"

~Typical DHS girl... Here's an idea: you can buy this space for a nominal fee. I'm not sure what nominal means, but for it to make sense in this case, nominal would have to mean very expensive.

REBUS PUZZLES

Can you guess the common word or phrase portrayed below?

Last issue's answers: BRADY BUNCH, SIGNIFICANT OTHER, REALISM, INCENTIVE

INFOGRAPIC

WHY WE'RE NOT GOING TO COLLEGE

- ★ Missed exit on the highway
- ★ Already have plans next Setpember through May
- ★ Just realized eating more fast food won't raise weighted GPA
- ★ The dog keeps eating every owl
- ★ Hogwarts tries contacting us with
- ★ No school had my intended major: Impersonating Christopher Walken

CRYPTOGRAM CHALLENGE

This is a simple substitution code. Each letter is replaced by a different letter. Try to decode the message or quote below. HINT: A = T
 Congratulations to last issue's winner: Brett Moss

"WXHVA WOAUHGH DN WTE KWGYCOAUN: ARSN WUS DHHE XSJWVOS ARSN YWZS KSHKGS
 PCPCE WTE FVGG HF KHOOCXCGCACSO. ARSN WUS JHYVTCOY WA CAO XSOA. SPSUNXHEN
 RWO W XCUAREWN WTE WGYHOA SPSUNXHEN RWO W KWGY." ~ ZVUA PHTTSDVA

Last issue's answer: "I AM THE WISEST MAN ALIVE, FOR I KNOW ONE THING AND THAT IS THAT I KNOW NOTHING." ~ SOCRATES

SUDOKU

LEVEL: Highly acidic

Fill in the grid so each column, row, and 3x3 box has the numbers 1 through 9.

		5					9	6
	1	6	4	7
8		7	6			3	4
			1	2		6
		2	8		4	1
		9		6	5
	4	3			8	5		7
				4	6	9	1
9	5					8

JUMBLE

Unscramble these four ordinary jumbles, and use the letters in circles to answer the final question.

CIHWT

HOTSG

MSRHAC

GNADOR

Last issue's answers: ACUTE, AMUSE, PERSON, DRENCH.
 What they called the NASA population: SPACE RACE

The Flipside is always looking for new writers, puzzle makers, and distributors. E-mail us if you're interested. Really, we want your help.

NOTE: All names and stories are fictional, unless public figures are being satirized. Remember, these are all jokes.
 To contact us, email jperelson@dhsflipside.com. For more information and more content, visit dhsflipside.com.