Deerfield Combines Varsity Boys' Football & Basketball Teams

By Jeffrey Hoodaman
Several dozen students were enraged after the school administration announced last Tuesday the decision to merge the varsity boys' football and basketball teams.

Upon receiving the news, linemen and guards alike were observed sobbing as they trudged through the hall dejectedly. Burly adolescent males embraced one another passionately, only stopping their whimpering to sneer at members of the other team as they walked by.

"This is freaking ridiculous," said 6' 2" center Coby

Reynolds as he wiped tears from his eyes. "I heard the teams are be combined before money reason... but won't one big fasketball team—there's no way we're calling it bootball—be just as expensive as two separate teams?"

While boys on both sides are furious with the impending merger, others are not as upset. "It's gonna be hilarious," said Tim Johnson, a sophomore at DHS, "cause that's gonna be utter chaos. Do they have to punt into the basket? And are they gonna play indoors with cleats on?"

Currently, the administration has only issued their standard "because we said so...obviously" statement.

Townsperson #4 Steals Show in School Musical

By George Minkowski
After four fantastic performances of the musical All Shook Up, critics have concluded that Townsperson #4 was the real star of the show. Despite having no individual lines, wireless microphone, or difficult dance moves to execute, sophomore Henry Wasserman shined in his debut musical theatre performance.

Wasserman, cast as the fan-favorite Townsperson #4 after a stellar audition, was thrilled upon receiving his part. "It was exactly what I was hoping for," Wasserman said, "but as excited as I was, I knew I had a duty to bring life to the complex and all-too-human Townsperson #4"

Judging by the standing ovations assumed to have been directed solely at him, Wasserman executed his part flawlessly. This was no mistake; he had put in countless extra hours and taken countless extra measures to ensure perfection. Wasserman made three flash cards to remember song lyrics and drew diagrams beforehand to remember where he was supposed to be on stage during each scene.

Wasserman's thorough preparation was evident in the amazing performance he put on. "Playing Townsperson #4 was so great for my career," Wasserman said. "It's just one step closer to my dream role: Tree #7 in Fiddler on the Roof."

I'll try out for American Idol if they can fit all three judges and a camera crew into my bathroom. For real though, my shower voice is that good.
