We've Been Expecting You

To all students of DHS, welcome to the school year of 2019-2020. We know you couldn't be more excited to venture into this brand new era of learning and adventure. We hope this year provides you many open doors, like the arc's. Here at The Flipside, we would like to take some time to remember the past year. To be completely honest, it was a rollercoaster of emotions. We experienced a lot of changes in school from the new cafeteria food, to the coffee bar, to the closing of the ARC passage, and many more. We are also sad to see that many of our favorite teachers have left but we wish them well on their next ventures of life. Over the summer, The Flipside took some time to reflect on our gallant past year at DHS and we decided to make some changes as well. As of this year, we are proud to present a more wholesome and clean Flipside experience for the whole family. No more shall The Flipside seek to cause chaos and strike fear in its readers, no longer shall we.. well, you know. Moving forward, chances are throughout the year you might catch some of your DHomieS stocking up on Flipside merch. We plan on releasing shirts to the public in these upcoming months so keep your eyes open.

We also wanted to take this opportunity to officially introduce ourselves to the incoming freshmen. We here at The Flipside are the premier source of news at Deerfield High School. We consistently give reliable and factual news stories (see a Literary Analysis of Mo Bamba) as again, there is no other news source beside us. If you enjoyed this edition and would like to join our team, email the address at the bottom of the page. Any complaints, you can find that email on here as well. In all seriousness, we really plan on shaping up our game this year. No more controversies, hurting other people, or mid-year power struggles. Just good old fashion Flipside fun.

All the best,

The Flipside ;)

Freshman's Guide To High School

Dear Freshmen,

We here at The Flipside would like to welcome you all to Deerfield High School! Now, you may be scared, and you should be. These four years are going to be the worst of your life... unless you follow our comprehensive pro guide that'll turn you from a wimpy 8th grader to an absolute chad.

First up, you're going to want to make sure you sign up for extended time. Don't have a good reason for it? No problem! Just get your parents to email your teachers saying that you are genetically disposed to have an extraordinarily small bladder in testing environments. Trust me, this one helped me get a 37 on my ACT without even studying.

Now this may seem shocking, but once a week gym teachers will lock a sweaty lung-restricting strap around your bare chest against your will and force you to run like a sled dog until your heart beats faster than all you freshies racing for homecoming dates. However, there is a way to get around this. All you have to do is stand up onto of the elliptical machine and yell at the top of your lungs, "BOW BEFORE ME MORTALS". While this approach is unorthodox, the display of absolute dominance will have your gym teachers doing your heart-rate-day for you!

Having a cafeteria for the first time for a lot of you guys is probably very exciting. In fact, it's so exciting that all you guys have decided to dive in there head first like it's a Lake Forest girl's DMs after her bio changes to 'single'. There is literally no air to breathe in there because of your tiny bodies filling up every crevice of that room. We kindly request, with all due respect, that you just exit from the cafe forever and never return. Ever. This really is the best option for both of us, trust us. You can wait for your mediocre pizza, we promise.

It may take a while to implement all of our tips into your high school routine, so be patient. However, once you do, you will immediately start seeing the results. That cutie in english will start talking with you, your math grade will skyrocket, and you will be flexing on seniors in the PERC. For any complaints with the program, please contact Jeffrey Lefkovitz, your elected leader of the freshman class, at 231lefkovitzj@student.dist113.org.

Sincerely,

The Upperclassmen
