Number of days left in November. Keep fighting!

Yesterday, as I was walking through Q-hall, I witnessed something I hoped I would never encounter. I nearly vomited in my mouth, barely able to contain my disgust. And unfortunately, it seems that this disgusting practice is spreading around the school and I cannot understand the reasoning. This practice is of course, holding hands before marriage. After dedicating my life to make sure this school upholds moral decency, to witness these acts makes me sick. We live in a society. We are not animals. I urge such individuals to change their ways, but it seems they are too far gone. We must enforce a policy against such morally repugnant acts. I urge school faculty and administrators to do something about this before it is too late. With each time

Moral Degradation

said policy is loosened, our moral compass grows weaker and weaker. We cannot allow ourselves to be tempted by sin. To those of you who perhaps partake in holding hands before lawful marriage, I have a simple response. What has brought you to such moral failure? Are your parents proud, and more importantly, is the Lord? I urge you to stop and consider what you are doing. Think about it, is a brief indulgence in your carnal desires worth eternal damnation? No, obviously not. Don't be foolish, consider what you are doing and get it together. However, they cannot entirely be blamed for their own failure to remain on the righteous path. Part of the blame must be placed on those who encourage such behavior by failing to condemn it. Holding hands before marriage IS immoral, and such actions must be regulated and banned by the school. Otherwise, we cannot hope to remain pure in the eyes of the Lord. Students, faculty, lets make a change and condemn this disgusting practice.

Nut Awareness Month

without the nut, life would not exist. But alas, it is November. For those unaware, this month is extremely special where no nuts of any kind may be consumed. This may sound extreme, but for the many people who suffer from nut allergies, this month is their entire life. For some, this month has been extremely hard. Many big names have come out as leaders in the month, such as: Leonardo DiCaprio, Emma Stone, and Wiz Khalifa's daughter. The latter in particular, Mrs.

Khalifa, has dedicated her life towards curing nut allergies. The poor souls unable to indulge in the nut without help have been saved by activists like Mrs. Khalifa and many others. Good luck to everyone participating in Nut Awareness November and be safe.
