

A Farewell to Dean Marsh, The Flipside's Greatest Supporter

It is with a heavy heart that the staff of the Flipside wishes a sorrowful farewell to Dean Marsh, long-time ardent supporter of this publication. Throughout his career here at Deerfield High School, the Dean made the Flipside a priority, going above and beyond his dean-hood to ensure the comfort and well-being of it's editors and staff. The Dean would do anything to support the staff's mental health, even going so far as shutting it down multiple times in the past three years. If Dean Marsh had one flaw, it was that he cared too much about this publication.

Rumor has it that, in 2019, the Dean's family urged him to retire, yet he stayed for another two years, fearing what would become of the Flipside without his tutelage. We are walking into unprecedented times, gentle-people. The Dean would often go out-of-pocket just to fund his favorite publication, even embezzling to secure much needed ink money. The Flipside held such a place in his heart that it was even part of his morning routine; he was often seen on Fridays enjoying a good old cup of joe with a fresh-off-the-presses copy of the Flipside and one of its editors by his side as they strolled leisurely to his office. Long before the rest of the school had off-campus lunches, past editors of the Flipside enjoyed Wednesday outings with the Dean at Tony's Subs.

Mr. Marsh's patronage can be traced back to the founding of this august institution. Legend has it that our founder, Jeremy Keeshin, was inspired by Marsh. While the two were bantering back and forth like the buddies that they were, the Dean suggested that the thing DHS needed most was a satirical newspaper. Voila! The Flipside was born.

The Dean may be leaving Deerfield High School, but his legacy will forever remain. We hope this article succeeds in showing a fraction of his kind-heartedness. With the retirement of this Dean, to the coming of the next, The Flipside staff hopes this tradition carries over and stands the test of time. We are nothing without the divine guidance of the Dean.

-Eli Austin

Staff

Noah Meyerhoff
Co-Editor In Chief

Eli Austin
Co-Editor In Chief

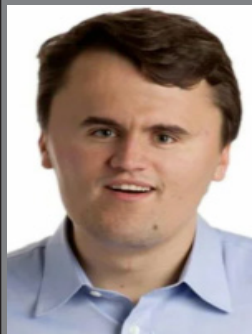

Nick Shapkarov
Staff Writer

Connor Vishnoi
Staff Writer, Photo-editing

Brenna Curley
Puzzles & Games

*If You'd Like to Join
The Flipside Staff or
Be a Guest Writer,
Email the Editors*

*noah.meyerhoff@gmail.com
ea.austica@gmail.com*

Conservative
APUSH Student
Rolls Eyes at 1619
Project Pg. 23

Junior emboldened
to ask out crush
since they have
chemistry together
Pg. 68

DHS Administration Announces Faculty Hunger Games

Earlier this morning, Deerfield High School Administration declared that, in order to remind the staff of their subservience and ensure their loyalty, the first annual faculty Hunger Games would be held this year. Principal Snow (née Anderson) announced gleefully that, beginning next week, tenured DHS teachers and counselors, two from each department, will have their names drawn from a lottery to determine which of them will be fighting to the death out on the football field during Winter Break. Principle Anderson Poses For a Promotion Photoshoot career preparing for this," he confessed, "I'll finally be able to demonstrate what 'Survival of the Fittest' really means." He also aired his intention to volunteer for the games whilst grinning with strategically sharpened teeth. Others were more hesitant about the conflict. One school counselor expressed a desire to prevent the inevitable violence when she said, "I'm really hoping we can all just talk this out instead of killing each other." Most experts expect she wouldn't make it past Day Two. Others felt that they could use this as a teachable moment. The English Department reportedly intends to cover the faculty Hunger Games in the Senior English: Nature of Competition class.
Teachers may also volunteer as tribute to spare their colleagues.

ly expanded its facilities. In place of the old tumbling floor, the sczchool erected a new MMA cage. The weight room's dumbbells gave way to hand-daxes, and several archery targets were mounted on the back wall. The cost of this equipment was staggering. Deerfield taxpayers initially met this fiscal decision with outrage, until one District 113 official addressed their concerns. "The District can afford more discretionary spending this year," she said, "seeing as how twenty-three staff members are soon to come off the payroll."

Students of all grade levels are incredibly excited for the upcoming battle royale. Betting pools have already been announced even though contestants have yet to be selected. If you're itching to see the bloodshed up close, remember: you can get your ticket for free at the bookstore when you show them your activity pass.

-Noah Meyerhoff

Staff responses were varied. Some teachers appeared excited to prove themselves. One biology teacher welcomed this opportunity with open arms. "It's like I've spent my whole

In other news, the PERC has recent-

The Flipside

Alternate Universe Update: Free Periods are actually free. Students can roam the halls as they please, un beholden to our paternalist administration, wasting their time when they should do homework.

This Week's Number

x

Solve for it, nerd.

Chirps

We chirp the devs of the bus app for trying their best.

We chirp Sophomores for still looking like Freshmen

Out of Context Quote of the Week

"Don't spill chemicals on yourself, unless you're an exhibitionist"

-A Chemistry Teacher

The Flipside Sudoku (Difficulty Level: 8/10)

1					7	5		6
	8		6
6			8	9		4
		2			8		4
	9			7
					4		2	5
		7		8
2							6
9			7			3		2

Puzzles By Brenna Curley

YOUR DAD HERE!

This Week's Dad

Name:

Peter Meyerhoff, PhD

Date of Birth:

03/08/1970

Occupation:

CEO of 10storymath

Child at DHS:

Noah Meyerhoff

Favorites:

Color - Blue

Ice Cream Flavor

- Cherry Garcia

Movie - Eternal Sunshine of the Spotless Mind

If you would like your own father to be featured in The Flipside, email Noah Meyerhoff at noah.meyerhoff@gmail.com for more information. First come, first serve.

This Week's Poll

What's the best part about being back in-person?

- A. Teacher-Student Eye Contact: 26%
- B. "About me" Presentations: 10%
- C. Heart Rate Days, Oh Yeah: 4%
- D. That Cutie From 8th Period: 82%
- E. The Q-Hall Bathroom 50%