

A Mouse That Can

Midterms are just around the corner again, and House, Senate and gubernatorial elections are happening all across America. The Midterms have traditionally served as a reflection of the President's last two years in office, and these Midterms are no different. An America ever divided between the Democratic and Republican Parties will vote on the merit of their current congressman or congresswoman as well as their views on the President and his party. Republicans and Democrats have campaigned vigorously for the past year, especially in key battleground states. The two major parties hold a grip on American politics, often called the "Two Party System," yet one man—nay, a mouse—seems content to change that. Charles Entertainment Cheese, known by his internet persona "Chuck E. Cheese," is a third-party independent who aims to shake up these Midterms in a way we've never seen before. Charles runs on a "pro-pizza" platform and plans on making various reforms targeting American youth, including repealing and replacing the Affordable Care Act passed under President Barack Obama with his "American Pizza Act" aiming at a single-payer pizzacare system. Youth between the ages of 5-12 have firmly rallied behind Mr. Cheese's platform and he continues to poll well with parents. For older voters, however, he lags behind due to numerous scandals of reusing pizza at his establishments and recently filing for bankruptcy in June of 2020. However a representative of Mr. Cheese provided us with this message: "On behalf of the Chuck E. Cheese corporation and Mr. Cheese himself, we deny all allegations of financial hardship or pizza reusing, the Cheese corporation is and will continue to be an honest and financially responsible business which has seen exponential growth over the past years." Some, however, are not convinced by this message and greatly oppose Mr. Cheese's bid, based on lack of experience, scandals and him being a mouse who will most likely not survive his presidency, but some choose to look on the bright side towards a more optimistic future. Mr. Cheese's candidacy has certainly received large amounts of attention from the media for numerous reasons, however through the usual negativity of politics, Charles Entertainment Cheese has stood above the rest with his childlike optimism and outsider appeal. Regardless if he wins, he has certainly changed American politics and has broken barriers never broken before. His youthful optimism displayed in his bright campaign slogan, one of unusual positivity in a deeply negative time.

A new, better voice.

"America, where a kid can be a kid."

-Ren D'Attilio

Staff

Noah Meyerhoff
Co-Editor In Chief

Eli Austin
Co-Editor In Chief

Genevieve Melton
Staff Writer

Connor Vishnoi
Photo & Web Editor, Staff Writer

Yaokai Yang
Staff Writer

Zach Stutland
Staff Writer

Ren D'Attilio
Guest Writer

Way More People Contributed to this Issue! To Check Out Our Newly Expanded Staff, Visit Our Webpage:

dhsflipside.com

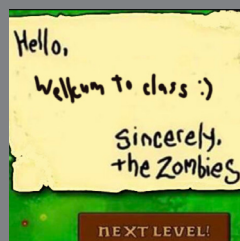

noah.meyerhoff@gmail.com

ea.austica@gmail.com

Chess Club Initiates New Cheat Detection Policy

Pg. 4

DHS Hires Crazy Dave to Teach New Gardening Class

Pg. 125

Charismatic Seniorist Speaks At Student Union—Transcript

SENIOR CAF, DHS (Flipside) — A senior with a disheveled appearance stood up on a table this past D-Lunch and delivered an impromptu speech stating their views on the recent influx of underclassmen dining in the Student Union, commonly referred to as the Senior Caf, during their lunch periods. The speech was met with the seeming approval of the seniors present, with even some applause from juniors. The speaker, still unidentified, has been accused of inciting violence against the underclassmen with their speech. The following is a transcript of the speech given:

My fellow seniors, we are a risk of being replaced in this great cafeteria by the radical underclassmen. These freshmen, "freshies" as I like to call them, have been flowing through the doors and taking the tables from seniors like you who have earned your tables!

These freshmen don't understand the values of the Warrior Way, the great binding of our schools like you do. You all have worked for years, very, very hard, you all are some of the hardest working people I know, to get where you are today. They come into our cafeteria, our great sacred space, the place we come together, and the horse around, and get in trouble.

We are gonna increase the number of supervisors in our cafeteria, really bigly increase, I got some people working on this, real good fellas, to ensure that these bad chicos stay out. You should hear some of the stories I've heard about these people, from credible sources, great sources, really bad things I can't repeat up here. This cafeteria was made by seniors, for seniors. When I look at the crowd I feel the bigness of your anger. Such big, big, anger.

The folks on the crooked advisory board don't think you've earned this. Now I know some people on the advisory board, they're great people, some of the best people, and they tell me it has been taken over by freshmen, some of them are even in Algebra I.

Our class, the great class of 2023, a truly wonderful class, has been through enough. We missed our entire sophomore year, being forced to be at home, away from our respectful spots on the blocks. We come back to a bunch of disrespectful, truly horrible, freshies, now sophomores, that have barely sat through middle school, daring to sit in our cafeteria. I say enough it enough! I want action!

[Seniors in the caf start cheering, and some underclassmen rapidly pack up and exit the caf visibly scared]

Yeah, you better leave! If you ask me I don't think the teachers should be on the side of these students. They should be with us! They know what we've been through!

[Two Security Guards enter the caf]

Can I get a hand for our great security guards, really help keep our school safe, no doubt here to get the darn underclassmen out of the great Senior Caf

[The speaker proceeds to be dragged out]

The radical Advisory Board has tried to drum up phony charges to deplatform me. The people know. God bless DHS!

-Connor Vishnoi

The Flipside

Alternate Universe Update: "I am the half-blood prince!" Mr Motzko boomed, towering over his Honors Bio class. A brave sophomore raised his hand, "Is this about Artemia salina?" This was a mistake. "You dare use my own spells against me, Potter?" Motzko spat. Josh Varon slunk back into his chair.

This Week's Number

51

Crabs in a Bucket Chirps

We chirp Overwatch for removing Bastion.

*We chirp Robotics for being a literal 5th
Great Awakening.*

*We chirp people who dislocate their knee
at Zach Stutland's*

Out of Context Quote of the Week

*"I don't have time for a 4 way"
-Brutus, Q108*

Several Memes That, If Used By a Teacher, Might Be Funny

you vs the guy she told you not to worry about:

Horoscopes

Based on the location of your 3rd period class.

X-Hall: ¡Tendrás un buen fin de semana!

E-Hall: Mary Oliver and some snaps are in your future.

Q-Hall: Look out! There's a pickleball incoming!

D-Hall: Hold yer guard, men, lest ye be raided by pirates!

F-Hall: The Burgundy Room has not been reserved yet.

G-Hall: What a promising career you will have as an entrepreneur!

Infographic

Top Five Exercises in Weights & Conditioning

5. Bench Press

Impresses all the ladies---especially with dumbbells

4. Quarter Squats

It's like squats, but you can, like, double your max

3. Go to the Water Fountain

This is most important part!

2. Hungarian Split-Squats

Where both feet are on the bench.

1. The Forearm Jerk

Gets you in the heart-rate zone--if only for 30 seconds.